Message To The Academy

I am delighted to be serving as your president for 1987-1988. I hope that our organization will continue to prosper and to adjust to changing conditions within the Ohio historical community.

Membership figures are good. Yet, they can improve. While not all Ohio Academy of History members teach, most, of course, come from the history faculties of the state’s colleges and universities. Let me remind you that major changes are occurring presently within the ranks of our core group. Retirements and subsequent hirings are altering significantly, even dramatically the complexion of many departments. At my own university, for example, within two years we will likely lose four members through retirement, and presumably they will be replaced. As Academy members we need to introduce new arrivals to our organization. Please tell your new colleagues about the Academy, pointing out that we have both a social gathering in the fall (this year to be at Heidelberg College in Tiffin on September 18th) and a formal spring meeting with papers, book display, and a luncheon session (April 21st at Wittenberg University in Springfield). Still, there are additional ways to encourage new faculty participation. For one thing, I suggest that next April we identify tables at our luncheon to alert these folks to fellow specialists or employ some form of “networking.” One Academy member mentioned recently that he recalls vividly his first formal contact with our organization in the mid-1960’s; the Academy at that time made an effort to introduce newcomers. He thus found those who shared his special professional interests and he had a good reason to attend regularly. I also believe that the Academy would benefit from the creation of specialized groups or sub-groups, much like the structure of several national historical associations. These groups could contribute paper sessions in the spring. Some non-western specialists, often alone in their own departments, have not felt that the Academy offers them much. Here are the words of one Chinese historian: “In the past, the spring meeting might include a paper or two on Asian history, probably some aspect of U.S. diplomacy. . . . It seemed to be only an afterthought.” I have thus asked one member to organize a paper session in this area for the meeting in Springfield, and these efforts may well become more formalized. Obviously on-going groups (Asiatics, Latin Americanists, medievalists, and the like) would strengthen bonds of commitment to the Academy.

But the Academy’s agenda should not be limited to the expansion of membership. We must work closely with Ohio’s historical societies; we need to promote the teaching of history in the primary and secondary schools; and we must continue to make our presence known to college, foundation and political leaders.

I am pleased to announce that the committees for 1987-1988 are generally ready for business. So please note that these chairpersons, in particular, are waiting to hear from you: Taylor Stults (Muskkingum), PROGRAM; Richard Smith (Ohio Wesleyan), DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD; Ronald Lora (Toledo), NOMINATING; Austin Kerr (Ohio State), PUBLICATIONS; and Harry Lupold (Lakeland), TEACHING AWARD.

Naturally, I am interested in your thoughts about the Ohio Academy of History. Please mark your calendar and plan to attend both the Tiffin and Springfield meetings. Any member who wishes to place items on the agenda of the Executive Council should contact me (216/375-6199 or 7006) or Vladimir Steffel, the Secretary-Treasurer, prior to the fall gathering.
MINUTES OF THE MEETING
OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL
April 24, 1987

The meeting was called to order by Kenneth Davison, President, at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, Ohio. Members present were Barton, Davison, Givens, Grant, Hamby, Hodges, Lupold, Orquist, Steffel, and Ubbelohde. Also present were Buchman, Knepper, Smith, Walker.

1. Minutes of October 1986 Meeting
   The minutes of the October 1986 meeting of the Executive Council were approved as reported.

2. Committee Reports
   A. Distinguished Service Award
      Mr. Knepper reported that two awards will be given and the recipients would be announced at the annual business meeting.

   B. Historical Societies and Archives
      Mr. Davidson, on behalf of Mr. Becker, said that Mr. Becker would resign from the committee because he was retiring.

   C. Nominating Committee
      Mr. Buchman announced the committee’s candidates: Roger Grant, president; Richard Orquist, vice president; Vladimir Steffel, Secretary-Treasurer; Stuart Givens, editor; Roberta Alexander, Ann Bowers, Jacob Dorn, and William Hoover, Executive Council.
      Buchman then noted that if Orquist is elected vice president there will be a vacancy on the Executive Council which needs to be filled. The consensus was that the one-year vacancy should be filled by the candidate who receives the third largest count of votes.

   D. Program Committee
      Mr. Steffel, on Mr. Burke’s behalf, reported that 39 papers were received; 37 were accepted and 2 rejected.
      About four people called after the deadline who were interested in giving papers. It seems that some departmental chairs of larger universities didn’t get the notice announced, especially to those who are not members of the Academy. Eleven members volunteered to be commentators or moderators. He noted that from the committee’s perspective, if individuals interested in giving papers organized panels then it would be significantly easier to organize the program. Finally, he added that the committee’s letter sent by the Secretary-Treasurer to the general membership brought significantly more proposals this year; he had compared notes with Erving Beauregard who chaired the committee last year.
      The Council recommended that there be a special mailing to large departments requesting that the chairs be sure to distribute the call for papers to new and younger members of the department.

   E. Publication Award
      Mr. Steffel read from Ms. Haddad’s citation that Joseph Lynch would receive the award for his study Godparents and Kinship in Early Medieval Europe.

   F. Standards Committee
      Mr. Davidson, who met with Ms. Scharf, reported that the main results of the committee’s work were two sessions on teaching and they represented different levels of teaching.

G. Teaching Award
   Mr. Smith, acting chair, reported that Ron Lora would receive the award this year. He also said that he thought of approaching the Mellon Foundation for a grant to provide more recognition for recipients of the Teaching Award. He suggested that it would be nice if the committee could visit campuses and do in-depth interviews with students.

H. Bicentennial
   Mr. Davison, for Mr. Walters, reported that at the fall meeting the Academy would commemorate both the bicentennial of the Northwest Ordinance and the Constitution. Some of the speakers will be P. Shriver, G. Knepper, H. Graff, and T. Cronin.

I. Local Arrangements
   Mr. Walker noted that the departmental secretary had done an excellent job in handling local arrangements and that he would have a student to assist with registration and transportation.

J. Historian
   Mr. Davidson, on behalf of Mr. Chessman, said that the Ohio Historical Society had processed the records. He requested that any additional papers be passed along.

3. President’s Report
   Mr. Davison stated that he has two goals during his presidency: to improve the teaching of history and to observe properly the bicentennials.
   To this end, at the public school level he represented the Academy by speaking to the Toledo Social Studies group, attending the Ohio History Day Workshop, meeting with new members of the Ohio State Board of Education, and participating in a panel of the National Council for Social Studies regional meeting. At the professional level he attended the Community History Conference and participated in board meetings of the Ohio Historical Society as an ex officio member. He attended the Lilly Conference on College Teaching. He worked with the State Department of Education’s resource group to plan new television materials for Ohio history at the secondary level. He expressed concern that the project’s orientation was toward social studies and contemporary events rather than history. He then turned to the bicentennials and said that in September there will be the Bicentennial celebration at Heidelberg, and in May he will speak to the League of Women Voters on the Northwest Ordinance. Finally, he noted that he had participated in a Ohio Preservationist Alliance which is planning a new report.
   The Council’s discussion then centered on the state of history in the secondary and elementary schools and the difficulty of getting teachers to teach history. Shriver’s concern and his presentation of documents to the Council in October 1985 concerning the degradation of Ohio History to Ohio Studies was recalled. One suggestion was to use access to state legislators and get them to put pressure on the State Board of Education. Another thought was to let the trend run its course since most of the individuals making decisions are products of social studies training and we must wait for a new generation. Also recommended was that the Academy must address the issue by speaking out and promoting change, even if the trend must run its course. The sense of the Executive Council was that the issue could not be left unattended and that continual pressure needed to be exerted.
4. Secretary-Treasurer’s Report
Mr. Steffel distributed the quarterly financial report. The treasury’s balance as of 31 March 1987 is $5273.42. He noted that $1094.21 of this is in the Reserve Fund. He added that last year the Academy received $50 in gifts and so far this year another $50. Currently, there are 495 members in good standing. He requested committee chairs to preserve key procedural papers and make copies available to next year’s committee chairs and for the archives. He noted that a visiting foreign scholar, Professor Valeria Lerca of the University of Genoa, would attend tomorrow’s meeting. In response to a question concerning the relations with the Ohio Historical Society he said that they were very good and that most of the problems had been worked out.

5. Fall Meetings
The 1987 fall meeting will be hosted by Heidelberg College on 18-19 September. The 1988 meeting will be hosted by Ohio State University. The site for the 1989 meeting is still undecided.

6. Spring Meetings
The 1988 spring meeting will be hosted by Wittenberg University on 15-16 April. Cynthia Behrman would chair local arrangements. The site of the 1989 meeting is still undecided.

7. Other Business
Mr. Davidson thanked the officers, executive council members, and committees for their assistance.

8. Adjournment
The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Vladimir Steffel
Secretary-Treasurer

MINUTES OF THE
ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING
April 25, 1987

President Kenneth Davison called the meeting to order.

1. Welcome to Ohio Wesleyan University
William Benz, Provost, extended a welcome on behalf of Ohio Wesleyan University.

2. President’s Comments
Kenneth Davison welcomed the membership and noted that Delaware was the birthplace of the American Studies Movement of Ohio and Indiana as well as President Rutherford B. Hayes.

3. Visiting Scholar
Warren Van Tine, chair, history, Ohio State University, introduced Valeria Lerca, University of Genoa, who is an exchange scholar in the Program 1992. She has written on American History and currently is studying Ohio Utopian Communities.

4. Nominating Committee
Ron Lora presented the following nominations: Roger Grant, president; Richard Orquist, vice president; Vladimir Steffel, secretary-treasurer; Stuart Givens, editor of Newsletter; Roberta Alexander, Ann Bowers, Jacob Dorn, and William Hoover for two seats on the executive council. He added that the candidate in third place would fill a one-year vacancy. There being no additional nominations from the floor, the slate was accepted for balloting.

5. Historical Societies and Archives Committee
Kenneth Davison reported that the records of the Academy had been processed by the Ohio Historical Society and were available to scholars.

6. Program Committee
James Burke, chair, reported that the spring meeting had 37 papers, implored department chairs to circulate announcements to anyone willing to give a paper, requested that papers be submitted as part of pre-organized panels, and requested that suggestions for the program be sent to him.

(For more details see his report to the Executive Council.)

7. Outstanding Teaching Award Committee
Richard Smith, acting chair, made the award:
A national committee chairperson who worked with him volunteered the judgment that it is obvious he is “deeply committed to teaching.” A campus administrator documented the demanding standards of the man and yet opined he is a major reason for the popularity of history as a field in the college. One person who is privy to his work habits concluded, “I know that he constantly revises his lectures, incorporating new material in them, . . . , and he rewrites them extensively and often.”

The evidence is conclusive that numerous undergraduates consider him “Their best teacher” and a great influence on their college careers. The student discussions held in his home contribute to the close student rapport that marks his teachings.

Random undergraduate student assessments include:
“he encouraged free thinking on the part of students” —a senior “I enjoyed the instructor’s enthusiasm toward history which in turn increased mine.” —a freshman “Too bad the course only runs for a quarter.” —a freshman “It was a "getby" course but I found myself more interested than I have been in any of my college courses, including those in my major field.” —a senior pre-med.

In 1985 a visiting scholar from another discipline took his “American Intellectual History” course and reported “he was fair and open-minded in his presentation of views other than his own. He was able to elicit from the students in the class not just answers to questions about which they felt confident, but also hypotheses about questions that they were still examining. He paid close attention to them and explored with them their hypotheses.”

But, I must stop for want of time; the person whose teaching I have described is Professor Ronald Lora of the University of Toledo--the Distinguished Teaching Award winner for 1987.

8. Distinguished Service Award Committee
George Knepper presented two awards:
The first recipient’s citation:
One of the first persons I encountered, thirty-three years ago while attending my first Ohio Academy meeting, was Richard W. Smith of Ohio Wesleyan University. He was already a veteran of the Academy having attended his first meeting in 1948. He has missed very few since.

An important criterion of the Distinguished Service
Award is service to the Academy, and Dick Smith has been a contributing, loyal member over his long professional career. He served as President in 1970-71; it would be difficult to find an Academy committee on which he hasn’t served, often more than once. Currently he is Chair of the Teaching Award Committee. On a number of occasions he has helped arrange Academy meetings on his campus, and it is appropriate that we are visiting it once more on this special occasion.

It is a distinct honor to bestow the Ohio Academy’s 1986-87 Distinguished Service Award on Richard W. Smith.

The second recipient’s citation:

Some college professors stay at an institution because they have no other option; they seem to acquire a kind of transient mentality. Others find a home in their university and become so involved in its life that they become almost an extension of it. If anyone can lay claim to being Mr. Bowling Green State University, it is Stuart R. Givens whom we honor today with the Ohio Academy of History’s Distinguished Service Award.

...we of the Academy think of Stuart as our editor. Since 1974 he has edited the Newsletter and has converted it into an informative and, thanks to occasional columns of student "bloopers," even an entertaining paper. He has been an Executive Committee member since 1981 and in this capacity helps guide Academy affairs. He has also served on the Nominating Committee.

For his loyalty and service to the Ohio Academy, for his professional interests, and for setting a superior example of institutional commitment, the Academy is pleased to bestow its 1986-87 Distinguished Service Award on Stuart R. Givens.

9. Outstanding Publication Award Committee
Gladys Hadded, chair, made the following citation:

For extraordinary scholarship and compelling reading on the origins and the development of spiritual kinship which traces the social and religious impact of sponsorship in medieval society and for what we believe will constitute a major contribution to the field of medieval history, we are pleased to name the 1986 Publication Award of the Ohio Academy of History, Joseph H. Lynch of The Ohio State University for his Godparents and Kinship in Early Medieval Europe published by Princeton University Press.

Warren Van Tine accepted the award on behalf on Joseph Lynch who was presenting a paper at the Medieval Historian’s conference.

10. Bicentennial Committee
Kenneth Davison stated that the Academy would commemorate the bicentennials of the Northwest Ordinance and the Constitution at Heidelberg College in Tiffin on 18-19 September 1987.

11. Secretary-Treasurer’s Report
Vladimir Steffel reported that the Academy’s balance was over $5000 of which $1100 is in a Reserve Fund. He noted that he had received $50 in gifts last year and $50 so far this year for the Reserve Fund. He then read a note from Larry Gara stating that Paul Miller, a former president of the Academy, had several setbacks in the last year and that on behalf of the Academy he would send him a note.

12. Nominating Committee
Vladimir Steffel reported the election results. Roger Grant was elected president; Richard Ortquist, vice president; Vladimir Steffel, secretary-treasurer; Stuart Givens, editor of the Newsletter; Roberta Alexander and Jacob Dorn to three-year terms on the Executive Council; and Ann Bowers to a one-year term on the Executive Council.

13. Presidential Address
Roger Grant presented "Utopia is Possible". First he described a mythical utopia. Then he focused on the Spirit Fruit Society which was founded in Lisbon, Ohio in 1901, moved to the Chicago, Illinois area about 1905, and then to Soquel, California in 1914 where it collapsed in 1930. He concluded with some insights into the reasons for the success and failure of utopias.

14. Adjournment
Kenneth Davison adjourned the meeting.

Respectfully submitted,
Vladimir Steffel

The various committees of the Academy need the assistance of all of the members to accomplish their ends. So please note the following:

PROGRAM COMMITTEE. A call for paper proposals is issued with a December 10 deadline. Please contact, with either individual or session proposals, Taylor Stults, History Department, Muskingum College, New Concord 43762.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE. Recommendations for the position of Vice-President and the Executive Council. Send nominations to Ronald Lora, History Department, University of Toledo, Toledo 43606.

AWARDS COMMITTEES. Please send nominations for the DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD to Richard Smith, History Department, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware 43015.

PUBLICATION AWARD COMMITTEE will receive books at any time through the remainder of the year. The books must be ones published during 1987 and written by a member of the Academy. Please send inquiries or books to Austin Kerr, Department of History, Ohio State University, 230 West 17th Avenue, Columbus 43210.

TEACHING AWARDS. The deadline for nominations is December 31st. The committee guidelines are - Any person who is a teaching member of the Academy may be nominated by his institution. Each institution may nominate one person via a letter from an official. Each nomination should include a current curriculum vita and supporting material such as letters as seem appropriate. Addresses and phone numbers of those supporting the nomination should be included with the materials. Finally, the truly outstanding characteristics of the nominee should be highlighted. Send all documents to Harry F. Lupold, Professor of History, Lakeland Community College, 190 & R306, Mentor 44060-7594.

ACADEMY AWARD WINNERS

Special recognition was given at the Spring Meeting to four individuals. For long service to the Academy and the profession Stuart Givens of Bowling Green and Richard Smith of Ohio Wesleyan were given the Distinguished Service Award. The Publication Award given for the best book published by an Academy member during 1986 went to Joseph H. Lynch of Ohio State University for his Godparents and Kinship in Early Medieval Europe which was published by Princeton University Press. The Teaching Award for 1987 was bestowed upon an individual "deeply committed to teaching," Ronald Lora of the University of Toledo.

Around and About
The Profession

SPECIALIZED CONFERENCES

During the past year several conferences and meetings were held around the state. At the beginning of May, Bowling Green's History Department hosted a Professional Day for some sixty Junior and Senior High teachers. A number of sessions were held on topics ranging from pedagogy to various areas of historical interest.

On May 19th Case Western Reserve's Center for Regional and Comparative History held its second annual conference. The general theme was The Development of National and Local Health Policies in Canada and the United States. The featured speaker was the Honorable Paul Martin, former Minister for National Health and Welfare in Canada. A number of CWRU faculty took part in the presentations.

During the summer Allan M. Winkler directed three seminars at Miami University. The first brought sixteen secondary teachers and administrators from fifteen countries to study Contemporary Life and Culture in the United States. This was held under the auspices of the Department of State. The second seminar was one for secondary teachers of AP American History. The third presented an American Studies Seminar to thirty-one Swedish secondary teachers of language, history, and civics. The latter of these seminars involved a number of individuals from the campus and community of Oxford.

Three different distinguished Mexican humanists spent two weeks each at Youngstown University and in the Mahoning Valley area talking about “Mexico Moving Toward the 21st Century.” The program was coordinated by George Beelen and included Bernardo Colunga, Jose “Pepin” Hernandez Laos, and Carlos de Abes.

The University of Toledo during the coming year(s) will host a series of conferences/programs. An NEH Grant has been made to the Humanities Institute which is directed by Roger Ray, History. Four programs under the general title of Public Programs, 1987-1989 will be presented. They are “Art and the Arts” in conjunction with the Toledo Museum of Art; “Public Leadership and Western Literature”; “Doctors and Medicine in Fiction and Poetry”; and, “Skywatching and Daily Living in the Ancient World.”

The Department of History at Toledo in cooperation with the National Council on Public History and The Forum for Business and History (a cooperative venture with Bowling Green State University and Toledo businesses) will host the Mid-America Public History Conference on April 29-30, 1988. The program will focus on “History in Public and Private Policy Analysis,” and, “Making the Past Accessible to the Public,” and, “Exploring History Where People Live.” For further information on this meeting contact Diane Britton, History Dept., U.T., Toledo 43606.

NEW COURSES AND RESOURCES

The Case Western Reserve University Constitutional History Collaborative led by Michael Althul of CWRU and Maryann Janosik Ghiandoni of the Shaker Heights School District offered a summer seminar to high school teachers. They studied modern British history and how it related to the American constitutional tradition. The program will continue monthly during the coming year. It is being supported by the U.S. Commission on the Bicentennial of the Constitution and the History Teaching Alliance.

Attention has been called to the several strong research collections held by the University of Cincinnati Library. Examples cited were the Central Archives of the Nazi Party (Hoover Collection) and Reports of Military Attaches to Germany, 1919-1940.

Announcement has been made of A Guide to History-Related Microform Holdings at the University of Toledo which was compiled by Gerald Thompson and Larry D. Wilcox of the UT History Department. The guide is in three parts. They are: 1) a list of the holdings in manuscripts, books, pamphlets, law, and government documents; 2) an alphabetical listing of newspapers; and 3) a list of journals and periodicals. To order a copy of the guide, send a check payable to The History Department, The University of Toledo, Toledo 43606-3390. The pre-paid price of $5.00 includes postage.

PERIPATETIC PHIL

Former Academy President Phillip R. Shriver is a man on the go these days. He is serving as chair of the Ohio Bicentennial Commission for the U.S. Constitution and the Northwest Ordinance and as chair of the six-state Northwest Ordinance Regional Bicentennial Commission. That has led him to give a number of talks on the general subject of the two celebrations. This included addresses at the dedication of the Museum of the Northwest Territory and at the official observation of the Northwest Ordinance at Marietta 200.

PUBLICATIONS

UNIVERSITY OF AKRON

Two books and a number of contributions to books mark a successful year at Akron. Syracuse UP released in the Spring DON R. GERLACH’S Proud Patriot: Philip Schuyler and the War of Independence, 1775-1783. The University of Nebraska Press published recently Roots of Revolution: Radical Thought in Cuba by SHELDON B. LISS.

A number of journal articles have also appeared. H. ROGER GRANT has had the following: “The Components of the Chicago & North Western: The Omaha, the Louie and the Great Weedy” in Railroad History; “We’re Off to Center Sandwich! A.B. Stickney’s 1909 Automobile Trip to New Hampshire” in Historical New Hampshire; “A Gentle Utopia: The California Years of the Spirit Fruit Society, 1914-1930” in the Pacific Historian; and “Memphis and the Interurban Era” in the Tennessee Historical Quarterly. In The Guardian of last November SHELDON B. LISS wrote a piece which he called “On Hurduras: Explaining a Key Colonial Backwater.” One other article was one co-authored by ROBERT L. ZANGRANDO with John Higham entitled “Statement on Plagiarism” which was in the October 1986 issue of Perspectives: The American Historical Association Newsletter.

The role of editor of the “Nearby History” series published by the American Association of State and Local History is being handled by DAVID E. KYVIG.

BLUFFTON COLLEGE

J. DENNY WEAVER is the author of Becoming Anabaptist: The Origin and Significance of Sixteenth-Century Anabaptism which was published by the Herald Press. An article of his was carried recently in The Menonite Quarterly Review under the title "The Quickening of Sotriology: Atonement from Christian Burkholder to Daniel Kauffman."

Bowling Green State University

Columbia University Press has just published The United States' Emergence as a Southeast Asian Power, 1940-1950 by GARY R. HESS. The Pacific Historical Review also carried an article by him entitled "Global Expansion and Regional Balances: The Emerging Scholarship on U.S. Relations with India and Pakistan."

JACK R. THOMAS has two chapters in Louis Parsouris, ed., The Crucible of Socialism published by Humanities Press International. They are "Fidel Castro" and "The Influence of Marmaduke Grove on the Chilean Socialism of Salvador Allende."

DAVID C. SKAGGS has two biographical sketches in Salem Press's book Great Lives from History: American Series which was edited by Frank N. Magill. His pieces are on "George Washington" and "Oliver Hazard Perry." He also has co-authored an article with Donald C. Enholm and W. JEFFREY WELSH in the Quarterly Journal of Speech which is called "Origins of the Southern Mind: The Parochial Sermons of Thomas Cradock of Maryland, 1744-1770."

Case Western Reserve University

CWRU history faculty have had a number of chapters in books and articles appear recently. DAVID HAMMACK has a chapter, "Technology and the Transformation of the American Party System" in Joel Colton and Stuart Bruchey, eds., Technology, The Economy, and Society, Columbia UP. He also has one in D. Schaffer's edited Two Centuries of American Planning, entitled "Comprehensive Planning Before the Comprehensive Plan: A New Look at the Nineteenth-Century City" which was published by Mansell. DAVID VAN TASSEL has appearing in the National Council for the Social Studies' Bulletin entitled Social Studies and Social Sciences: A Fifty-Year Perspective a piece on the "Trials of Clio."

University of Cincinnati

The History faculty at UC remain active. Among the most recently published are the Harvard UP book Walter Cannon: The Life and Times of a Young Scientist written by SAUL BENISON in conjunction with A. C. Barger and Ellin Wolfe.

Chapter length pieces have been written by JAMES LAUX, "Diesel Trucks and Buses: Their Gradual Spread in the United States," in The Economic and Social Effects of the Spread of Motor Vehicles edited by Theo Barker. BRUCE LEVINE has the first essay in "In the Heart of Two Revolutions: The Forging of the German-American Radicalism" in Dirk Hoerder, ed., Struggle a Hard Battle: Essays on Working-Class Immigrants, Northern Illinois UP. U.C. Judaic Studies has printed OTIS MITCHELLS' lecture entitled "The Holocaust in Post-War Germany: An Examination of the West German Treatment of the Subject in Media, the School, and Historical Writing."

University of Dayton

The Queen City Heritage in its Spring issue carried ERVING E. BEAUREGARD'S "Ohio's First Black College Graduate."

John Carroll University

Kent State University

Two books by Kent faculty have recently been published. Ohio UP released JEROME FRIEDMAN'S Blasphemy, Immorality, and Anarchy: The Ranter and the English Revolution, and Kent State UP issued Entangling Alliances with None: American Foreign Policy in the Age of Jefferson by LAWRENCE S. KAPLAN.

DEATHS

DR. CHARLES DeBENEDETTI, Professor if History at The University of Toledo, author, scholar, teacher and a former Rockefeller Foundation fellow, died in Toledo, January 27, 1987, on his 44th birthday. His work on American diplomatic history and the American peace movement earned him international recognition.

A native of Chicago, Charles DeBenedetti earned a bachelor's degree at Loyola University, Chicago, and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois. He joined The University of Toledo faculty as an assistant professor in 1968 and was promoted to professor a decade later.
In 1982, while researching at the Johnson Presidential Library in Austin, Professor DeBenedetti drew national attention when he uncovered a previously classified top-secret report from the CIA to President Johnson which indicated that American protests against the Vietnam War had no communist or foreign link. Johnson refused to accept the agency's findings. On numerous occasions the historical profession honored Dr. DeBenedetti. A former president of the Conference on Peace Research in History, he was elected in May 1986 as president of the Society for the Study of Internationalism. He held memberships in the American Historical Association, the Organization of American Historians, the Society of Historians for American Foreign Relations, and Phi Alpha Theta. Dr. DeBenedetti's most recent recognition came in August 1986, when the Social Science Research Council awarded him a $70,000 grant for an oral history, "Elite Dissent and U.S. Foreign Policymaking; Vietnam as a Case Study." Earlier, in 1979, he had received a major Rockefeller Foundation Humanities Fellowship for research on the American anti-war movement of the sixties. The following year the foundation invited him to live at its Bellagio Study and Conference Center, in Italy, while drafting his essay "The Anti-Vietnam War Movement and Modern America." Charles DeBenedetti was a kind, compassionate human being, an excellent researcher, a superb teacher and a good friend. He was committed to the peaceful resolution of domestic and international problems, and his personal values were reflected in his scholarship. The Charles DeBenedetti Scholarship Fund has been established by The University of Toledo Alumni Foundation, Toledo, Ohio 43606.

BERNICE WILLIAM FOLEY long-time dynamic director of the Ohioana Library Association and then Director-Emerita died at the home of her son in Overland Park, Kansas on May 16, 1987.

JOSEPH T. May, a member of the YSU History department since 1968, died this past spring. He was an Associate Professor of American History specializing in the field of diplomatic and constitutional history. His undergraduate work was completed at Wheaton College, and his MA and Ph.D. were from Kent State University. His dissertation topic was "John Foster Dulles and the European Defense Community," directed by Dr. Lawrence Kaplan. He was working on an article concerning the Bricker Amendment at the time of his death. He published numerous book reviews and gave papers at numerous historical organizations including the Ohio Academy of History and the Organization of American Historians. He is survived by his wife, Judith and two children, David and Robert. His place at Youngstown can be well summed up in what a colleague said, "We miss him greatly."

WILLIAM J. MCNIFF, charter member of the Ohio Academy of History, died at Oxford, Ohio, on May 14, 1987, at the age of 88. He was born in Hoboken, N.J., studied at Mt. Hermon Academy, graduated with the B.A. from Dartmouth College, did graduate work at Harvard University, took an M.A. degree at the University of Michigan, and received the Ph.D. from Ohio State University.

Although trained in U.S. History, he mainly taught English and European history at Miami University for forty years, retiring in 1969. He then served as university archivist from 1972-1975. Tough as the handball games he played from Brooklyn walls to Withrow Court, humorous as an Irish wit both natural and cultivated, kind and generous beneath a craggy exterior, his teaching sprang from an inquiring skepticism and intellectual rigor which drew him to dialogue teaching charged with an uncommon excitement. "What is justice? "Did the Americans win or the British lose the American Revolution?" provoked classroom battles which adjourned to the halls and reverberated across the campus. Although he was most conscientious about his responsibilities as an undergraduate teacher, he published a book Heaven on Earth: A Planned Mormon Society in 1940, which was reprinted in 1974; wrote numerous reviews and articles; and gave many students a model and stimulus for professional careers in history.

Colleagues and former students established a conference room in his honor, Miami awarded him an honorary doctorate of letters in 1979, the Miami Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa elected him to membership, Phi Beta Kappa made him a member, the Miami Chapter of the American Association of University Professors made him its president. Yet he never spoke so warmly of any of these honors and associations as he did of the Ohio Academy of History. He admitted grudgingly that he was not at its first organizational meeting at Vermilion-on-the-Lake in 1930, but he missed very few thereafter until the last few years. The Academy returned the affection and respect which he felt for it by electing him president in 1950-1951 and giving him its Distinguished Service Award and honorary life membership in 1979. Family and friends, colleagues and students will not so much miss him as cherish the memory of an unforgettable person.

CLIO'S CORNER

Collegians Look at the Past

--The political bosses wrote letters home for people who were illiterate.
--The Kellogg-Briand Act forbade aggressive military action during peacetime.
--The period raging from 1873 to 1914 is often referred to as a crisis.
--When the British abolished the slave trade, a Dutch family called Boers, moved inland so they could still keep slaves.
--Pius IX also established 'Papal Infallibility' which states that the pope is never wrong when sitting on a certain seat whose name I can't remember.
--Sir Loyd Budget was the Prime Minister of England.
--The United States of America entered the war on November 11, 1918. That day has come to be known as Armistice Day.
--Storyville was a house of ill repute in New Orleans where the very liberated women spent a fair amount of time.
--The Interstate Commerce Act was an act passed by the Supreme Court that stated that the R.R. couldn't be monopolized.
--John L. Lewis said that Franklin Roosevelt was asleep at Labor's door.
--We on the other side of the desk goof occasionally too. A recent note to the Newsletter had this tidbit. Of special interest to researchers is the recent copulation of Prof. A and Prof. b. entitled...
